

CHRISTINE DEMARCO, MS., SLP-CCC

Winning Ways to Talk with Your Child and Light and Easy Biking

I received my Bachelors of Arts as a Teacher of the Speech and Hearing Handicapped and my Masters of Science as a Speech Language Pathologist. I have successfully completed my Certificate of Clinical Competence (CCC) and I am certified by the American Speech and Hearing Association (ASHA). I am licensed in MA as a Speech Language Pathologist and in addition, I hold an Educator's License. I have 15 years experience working with a wide variety of communication delays and disorders including many different ages and populations. I have led in-service trainings for the following: sign language, speech sound disorders, stuttering, social language and communication devices. I was awarded a scholarship that provided six cameras to a local school program. Currently, I am an instructor and I have my own private practice.

I have participated in a number of volunteer opportunities, some of which centered around my two children's school, sports, and church activities. I was also a leader of a girls' focus group. I have volunteered with the Bedford Family Connection and at the Bedford Food Pantry. I have participated in a number of fundraisers including the walk for hunger, heart disease, multiple sclerosis, breast cancer awareness and sarcoma.

I have a wide variety of interests including the following: photography, creative moment, painting, arts and crafts, jewelry making, knitting, book group, bowling, games, cards, cooking and entertaining my friends. I especially love the outdoors and I enjoy many different sports - bicycling, rollerblading, walking, hiking, tennis, golf, boating, kayaking, swimming, water aerobics, camping, cross country skiing and snowshoeing. I was certified by the Aerobics and Fitness Association of America as an aerobic instructor for four years and I enjoy a variety of low impact classes as well as yoga and Pilates.

I have been a resident of Bedford for 20 years. I have enjoyed being a part of the community, working, volunteering, and raising my children here. My youngest will be graduating college this year and my oldest has graduated from college and is working in Bedford. I celebrate my 30th Anniversary with my husband this month.

I look forward to sharing with the community my experiences and knowledge that I have gained along the way in hopes of empowering others and continuing to grow.
